SECOND & THIRD FLOORS

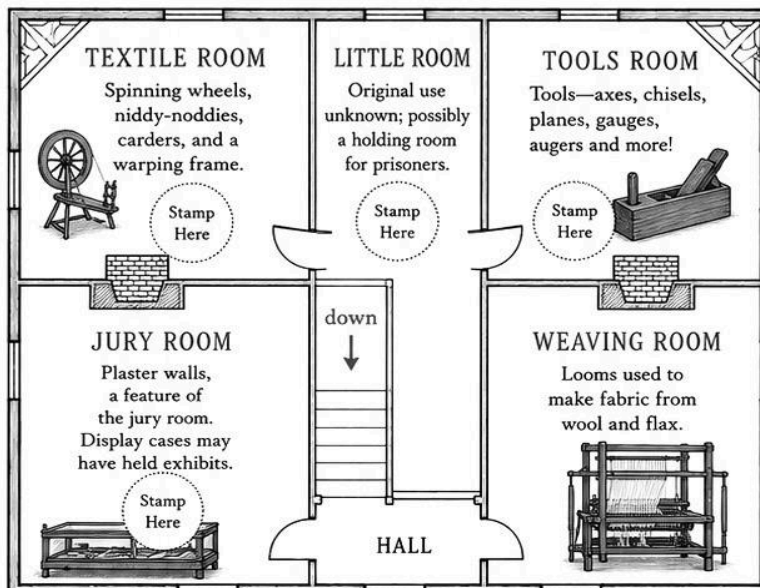

Long ago, life and work filled every room of the Court House.

SECOND FLOOR

The courtroom later became three bedrooms for the family.

THIRD FLOOR

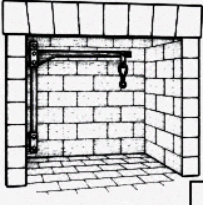

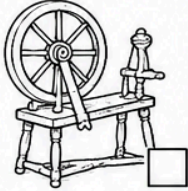

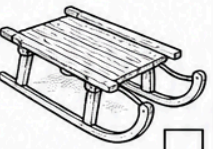

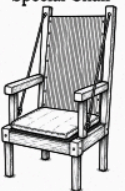

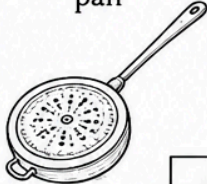

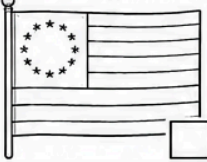

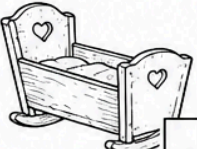

DID YOU KNOW?

- ★ Dragon beams kept the building square and true.
- ★ Pine floor boards were extra wide—some are over 24 inches across!
- ★ Looms helped families make cloth for everyday life.

Every room on the upper floors had a job to do!

Games Kids Played in the 1830s

Children in the 1830s had lots of fun with simple games. Try them yourself!

HOPSCOTCH

1. Toss a small stone into square 1.
2. Hop on one foot through the course.
3. Turn around and hop back to the start.
4. Pick up your stone.
5. Try it again—toss into square 2, then 3, and so on!

MARBLES

You'll need several marbles and one larger "shooter."

1. Draw a circle on the ground.
2. Put several marbles inside the circle.
3. Stand outside the circle and use your shooter to knock marbles out.
4. Any marble you knock completely out is yours!
5. Play continues until all the marbles are won.
6. The player with the most marbles wins!

How many marbles can you win? Your best: _____

JUMP ROPE

Turn the rope and jump in!
Try this old-time rhyme:

"Pumpkin, pumpkin, turn about,
Pumpkin, pumpkin, touch the ground,
Pumpkin, pumpkin, show your shoe,
Pumpkin, pumpkin, now jump through!"

JACK STRAWS

1. Hold the bundle in your hand.
2. Let the sticks fall.
3. Pick up one stick at a time without moving the others!

How many sticks
can you pick up?

Your best: _____

These games were played by children in courthouses and homes just like this one—over 190 years ago!

Use your imagination!

In the 1830s, many families refused to buy goods made by enslaved people. They looked for FREE PRODUCE—goods made by FREE LABOR.

Mother's MOLASSES COOKIES

Mother bought FREE-PRODUCE molasses. That meant it was made by FREE LABOR, not by the labor of enslaved people.

What Will We Need?

- 1/2 cup molasses (free produce)
- 1/2 cup shortening (melted)
- 1 egg
- 1/3 cup hot water
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 2 1/2 cups flour
- 3/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 3/4 teaspoon ginger
- 3/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon cloves
- A pinch of salt

A CHOICE THAT MATTERED

In the 1830s, some families refused to buy goods made by enslaved people. They looked for “free produce”—sugar, molasses, cotton, and other goods made by free labor.

By supporting free produce, they worked for a more just and kinder world.

1. Which ingredients are spices? Circle them.

molasses
shortening
ginger
cinnamon cloves
flour
cream of tartar
salt
baking soda
egg

2. What ingredient makes the cookies sweet without adding white sugar?

3. How many different spices go into the cookies?

spices

4. Put these steps in the right order. Write 1–7 on the lines.

- _____ Chill the dough.
- _____ Mix the dry ingredients.
- _____ Add dry ingredients to wet mixture.
- _____ Mix molasses, shortening, and egg.
- _____ Dissolve baking soda in hot water.
- _____ Roll and cut the cookies.
- _____ Bake at 400°F for about 10 minutes.

LET'S MAKE THE COOKIES!

- ① Mix the molasses and melted shortening. Add the egg and mix well.
- ② Dissolve the baking soda in the hot water. Add it to the molasses mixture and stir.
- ③ In another bowl, mix the flour, cream of tartar, ginger, cinnamon, cloves, and salt.
- ④ Add the dry ingredients to the molasses mixture and stir into a dough.
- ⑤ Chill the dough in a cold place for 30–45 minutes.
- ⑥ Roll the dough about 1/8 inch thick and cut out your cookies.
- ⑦ Bake at 400°F for about 10 minutes. Ask an adult to help with the hot oven.

The cookies will be soft when warm and will firm up a little as they cool. Enjoy!

Kitchen Math

Mother's original recipe calls for 5 cups of flour. We're making half as much.

How many cups of flour do we need?

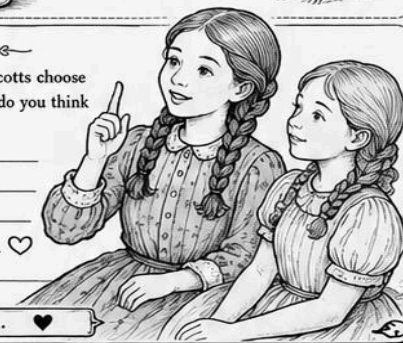

cups

Talk About It!

Why did families like the Prescotts choose free produce? What difference do you think it could make?

Always ask an adult to help when using a hot oven.
